

Membership Changes Effective April 1, 2012

We wanted to take this time to announce some small price adjustments to just two of our membership types starting in April. Our current pricing structure has been in effect for a few years now and since its release a lot of good things have changed at Shape5! We have added dozens of new feature-rich templates and extensions, we've launched our new Vertex framework, we've launched a new Wordpress Themes club, added tutorials, added member bonus discounts, added a free Hire a Coder program, and much more! We have added a lot to the value of our membership over the years, therefore because of these new features we are adjusting the price of just two memberships. In addition to that, the new pricing will help fund even better products, new product lines, and new staff to make your experience at Shape5 even better!

Our goal at Shape5 is always to provide the best products at very reasonable prices. Even with the new pricing structure we will still be providing some of the best Joomla and Wordpress products available on the web today at prices BELOW most major template and themes clubs! Now for the changes, we will be keeping our $49.99 (2 month, 1 domain) membership exactly how it is, our $69.99 (1 year, 3 domains) memberships will be increasing to just $79.99, our $109.99 (1 year, unlimited domains) membership will remain the same, and finally our $224.99 (1 year, unlimited domains) developer membership will increase to $249.99. This new structure will take place April 1, 2012.

We have done extensive research by examining the price structure of many competitors and we feel that our prices will still remain very competitive and the best value for your money!
