S5 Blog Box - Version 1.0.2

BlogBox uses aesthetics and great functionality to publish content for authors, bloggers and publishers. Every blog is built around content and for this reason BlogBox focuses mainly on large article areas to present your content in an easy to read and aesthetically pleasing way. Each article in a blog or featured layout can have full width intro images. If you don't want a full width column you can use the default Joomla column settings as well. Alternatively, you can use the S5 Masonry module, which is also stylized for the homepage to display articles in columns of various lengths. In addition to these great layout options, we have also stylized, and demo, the default Tags component for articles.
